The counting of the votes was exciting. The very small margin between the winners of the two grand prizes was a remarkable feature, there being exactly 5,576 votes dividing these candidates. This number represents a very little more than a yearly subscription to The Daily Capital. All the contestants came down the "home stretch" with the throttle wide open, as all hustlers should, and judging by the smiles on the faces of the candidates as they departed from The Capital office about 11 o'clock, all were immensely satisfied. There were prizes for all, and each received according to the number of votes secured. This feature of the contest was gratifying to The Capital management, as it was the intention when the contest was announced to provide a sufficient number of prizes for all who felt that they wished to compete and stay to the finish.

To the winners of the prizes, great and small, the Capital offers the heartiest congratulations for their fair and businesslike way of treating the Capital, and the expedition manner in which they transacted their business.

Early Monday morning the subscriptions began to roll in. During the afternoon nearly all the candidates turned in big bunches of subscriptions, and before the close of nine o'clock some of the contestants had made two or three trips to the contest department. The candidates in the outside districts—including Strathcona, as well as District No. 4—phoned in their reports before the closing hour, and all were ready for the final count.

The ballot box, containing all the certificates, issued during the contest, was taken from the Contest Department in the Norwood block, to the Capital office, where the judges were ready to take up the task.

The Count. When the certificates for votes were piled upon the counting table, it looked like an all-night job. The judges of the recent, Messrs. William Purvis, Robert Goldschmidt, J. F. McMILLAN, H. Lloyd-Young, and E. J. Hart—soon had the task well in hand. Mr. Lloyd-Young called off the certificates to Mr. F. H. McPherson, who rapidly and accurately compiled them on a Burroughs adding machine. The adding machine was kindly loaned by J. Garret Pearson, manager of the United Typewriter Co., Ltd.

After the vote of a candidate was tallied two of the judges checked off each certificate, leaving no room for doubt of the correctness of the scores. It was no small task, and it was almost 11 o'clock before Mr. Lloyd-Young said, "This is the last one."

After the finish of the count, the judges and the business staff of The Capital repaired to Lewis' Cafe, and over a very satisfying lunch discussed the various features of the contest. It was Wednesday before this little party adjourned. It was unanimously agreed by the business force and "contest people" that the judges were the "best ever," and the judges in turn had words of praise for the new paper "that does things."

All the records will be kept for a reasonable length of time, and any contestant or person interested is invited to inspect the same if desired. The majority of the candidates were present at the count, which was exciting enough, but there was no exciting enough. There are times when silence is more expressive than any outward expressions. While many were striving for the grand prizes, it was evident from the beginning that there were not enough grand prizes to go around. The remarkable feature of the contest is the fact that not a single contestant who stayed in the "game" until the finish and put any effort worth noticing into the gathering of votes, failed to win a substantial reward.

During the past eight weeks the prize winners have found out what it is to be overlastingly at it. The fact that they have performed noble work will of course enhance the enjoyment that will come with the prizes. The pianos, the diamonds, and the many other prizes will offer everlasting joy to the winners, and all of those who would eventually enjoy all of these have the heartiest good wishes of the Capital.

The Capital also wishes to thank those who have taken part in furthering the interests of the candidates. To the judges, who so kindly consented to act, it extends its special thanks. The Capital never meant this for a something-for-nothing scheme, and all who have won, earned their reward by energy, ambition and hard work. This contest was a business proposition, as stated at the outset.

It must be said, in recognition of the good work of the candidates, they devoted themselves heartily to the cause, and through their efforts, the public generally awakened to the fact that the Capital was the paper for the home and today it has many hundreds of subscribers through the efforts of the candidates.

If there is one class of citizens more interested than another in the contest that has just closed, it is the business men and general advertisers, who have watched with interest the daily increase in votes made by the contestants, and have drawn their own

PERU AND CHILI MAY GO TO WAR

Diplomatic Relations Have Been Broken Off Because of Territorial Dispute.

Valparaiso, Chile, via Calcutta, Texas, March 29.—Diplomatic relations between Peru and Chile are severed. The Peruvian government today notified the Chilean authorities of the withdrawal of its legation at Santiago. The Chilean legation at Lima was closed. The Chilean government has refused to receive the Peruvian legation at Santiago because the measures adopted regarding the Peruvian parish priests are considered by Peru as proofs that Chile refuses to comply with Peru's wishes in the Tacna-Arica dispute.

To a Chilean note of March 3, proposing a settlement of the Tacna-Arica question by carrying out within a short time a plebiscite which should decide the future nationality of the inhabitants of those provinces, Peru answered that it had been resolved to close the Peruvian legation in Santiago because the measures adopted regarding the Peruvian parish priests are considered by Peru as proofs that Chile refuses to comply with Peru's wishes in the Tacna-Arica dispute. Chileans and foreigners were astounded when the news of Peru's attitude became public. They wonder what is Peru's ultimate aim. A prominent American lawyer said: "For the sake of humanity and civilization, Chile ought to give up any claim to all her complacency with Peru by annexing Tacna and Arica, inasmuch as Chile is the owner by right and might. The United States in Chile's place would not act otherwise."

IS ALFONSO ORTHODOX? King's Democratic Leanings Cause Church Authorities Much Anxiety.

Rome, March 29.—Is King Alfonso of Spain becoming a heretic? A deep suspicion to this effect is agitating clerical circles in Rome. Church dignitaries here, including the highest, are extremely discontented with the state of affairs at Madrid, where a democratic cabinet has been formed with the king's approval. Not only that, but King Alfonso is accused of wishing to free himself from the yoke of the church, and of being influenced by the Free Masons. The papal nuncio at Madrid has reported that the king no longer confesses, and that he avoids the nuncio and the bishop of Madrid whenever it is possible for him to do so.

TARIFF QUESTION IS NOT YET DEAD

Insurgent Republican Senators in United States Senate Will Re-Open Question.

Washington, March 29.—A reopening of the tariff debate in the Senate will be the next step taken by the Republican insurgent Senators. This move more than any other will aggravate the serious situation now confronting the Republican leaders in regard to next fall's election. It will add new life to an issue that already is giving the administration forces a good deal of concern.

Ever since President Taft in his New York speech of February 12 created his Wisconsin defense of the new tariff law, declaring it to be the best act of his kind ever placed on the statute books, the more radical of the Republican senators have been pleading for an opportunity to reply to the President. Mr. Taft's Providence speech and the result of the special Congress election in the Fourteenth Massachusetts district have given the insurgents additional inspiration on this subject, and Senators La Follette and Cummins today confirmed the report that the senate will not be permitted to adjourn until the insurgents' views on the tariff have been thoroughly aired in the Congressional Record.

ROYAL COMMISSION IS NOW UNDER WAY

First Session Held This Morning in the Legislative Chamber at Government Building With Only a Small Audience.

ALL THE COUNSEL WILL BE HEARD

Any Counsel Given Right to Conduct Cross-Examinations Within Reasonable Limits—Objection Taken to Mr. R. B. Bennett's Position, But He Was Upheld by the Commission.

The Royal Commission which is to investigate all the transactions between the government and the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway began its sessions in the Legislative Chamber at the Government Building this morning. In spite of the great interest which has been aroused by the questions at issue in the investigation, only a small crowd was present when the Commission began its work. All the interests concerned were represented by counsel. Besides Mr. W. L. Walsh, K.C., of Calgary, and Mr. L. M. Johnston of Lethbridge, counsel for the Commission, there were six counsel present. Messrs. R. B. Bennett and H. H. Purvis represented, as Mr. Bennett put it, the sixteen members of the House commonly called the insurgents. Mr. P. J. Nolan was there on behalf of the Premier, and Mr. O. M. Biggar on behalf of Hon. C. W. Cross. Mr. Norman MacKenzie appeared for Mr. J. E. Cowan, M.P., and Mr. H. A. Robson for the A. & G. W. Company.

Mr. Justice Scott, Mr. Justice Harvey and Mr. Justice Beek, the members of the Commission, sat on the dais generally occupied by the Speaker. Mr. Walsh took the seat ordinarily sacred to the leader of the government with Mr. Johnston beside him. The others sat in the front row of seats on the other side of the chamber. Premier Rutherford and Hon. C. W. Cross sat in the back benches on the government side.

Commission Was Read.

It was shortly after ten o'clock when the Commissioners entered, those present standing as is customary in the law courts. Mr. Justice Scott, the chairman, first called upon Mr. Alan D. Harvie to read the Commission under authority of which the investigation is to be held. "We have already given notice," said the chairman, "through the daily papers that we would sit here this morning for the taking of evidence. We are now ready to give a hearing to any person who has any testimony to give. We would prefer that anyone having any information should communicate with Mr. Walsh or Mr. Johnston, the special counsel in this investigation. We do not insist, however, and are willing to hear any person willing to testify."

Commission Was Read.

Mr. Justice Scott then asked the various counsel whom they represented. Mr. R. B. Bennett was the first to answer, saying that he had been asked to permit by sixteen members of the legislature. "I ask permission," he said, "to appear on behalf of sixteen members of the House, commonly called insurgents."

"Our present view," said the chairman of the Commission, "is that we shall hear any counsel and allow them all to examine any witness they may bring forward. We will also allow them within reasonable limits to cross-examine any witnesses anyone else may produce. It would make the inquiry unnecessarily long if we had had a dozen counsel, each cross-examining in turn."

Mr. Nolan said that he appeared before the Commission in consequence of certain statements which had been made of the license which would be permitted. If the right of cross-examination were limited to matters of defence his part in the proceedings would be small.

Mr. MacKenzie said that he appeared for Mr. J. K. Cornwall, whose vote had been challenged in the House in regard to the matters into which the Commission would direct its investigation. Mr. Cornwall had thought that he should be represented.

Mr. Robson said that he was there simply to watch the proceedings on behalf of the A. & G. W. Railway on the chance that some stage might arise at which it would be necessary to be represented.

Mr. Biggar said that he appeared for Hon. Cross in the same way in which Mr. Nolan appeared for the Premier and to the same extent.

W. R. Clarke Will Be There.

Mr. Robson then rose to contradict a statement made to the effect that Mr. W. R. Clarke, president of the A. & G. W. Railway, would not be present before the Commission. "It is entirely unfounded," declared Mr. Robson. "The reason he is here now is as follows: Mr. Walsh wrote us a letter asking us to be present. We thought that at this session some plan would be devised and that it would not be necessary for witnesses to come until later. When the evidence is being taken he will be here. There is no desire on the part of the A. & G. W. to come here and assist in the Commission's investigation by oral testimony and the production of documents."

Mr. Walsh's Explanation.

"In a sense," said Mr. Walsh, "Mr. Johnston and myself are a part of this tribunal, except that, of course, we have no say in the findings of the Commission. Our idea is that the first duty at our door is to be fair and impartial in our conduct of the enquiry. We are not here to inquire into the acts of any one special person or to refrain from inquiring into the acts of any one special person. The scope of the enquiry is large and our conception of our duty is this, that our plain duty is to bring forward every witness who can reasonably be expected to be of assistance in arriving at the facts or in producing documents."

"Apart from this our position is peculiar and somewhat difficult. We have no client to whom we may go for instructions. The duty devolved upon us of endeavoring to find out by enquiry what evidence was available. A public notice invited all who had anything to communicate to give it to us. So far the only result of that has been that several enterprising newspaper men have come to us for the purpose of getting instead of giving information."

Had to Go After Evidence.

"Certain names," continued Mr. Walsh, "naturally suggested themselves to us as having information. They haven't come to us. We have gone to them. In another respect our position is peculiar. No offence is charged. We are not to investigate the truth of any charges made. No person or persons are charged with anything. It is an inquiry pure and simple. Our position is one of some difficulty. We cannot proceed to the taking of oral evidence until there has been a full and complete production of all documents in the possession of anybody and which have any bearing on the subject of the enquiry."

Mr. Walsh said that these would be all official documents, all the papers and documents of the railway company and the documents in the possession of any individuals. He said that there were two methods of procuring these documents, by affidavit as in legal cases or by the examination of the parties who should have the documents. He asked, therefore, that the production of all documents be ordered by the Commission.

Production by Witnesses.

The chairman said that the Commission did not see its way clear to order the production of the documents and that the only way open would be to call the witnesses. Mr. Johnston asked if the witnesses were called for the production of documents whether there would be the right of recall for examination. The chairman said that there would.

Alan D. Harvie, the secretary of the Commission, was the first called. He produced the files of the Attorney-General and the Provincial Treasurer's Departments. He, he explained, had received them from Mr. Justice Beek. Mr. Justice Beek explained that they had been turned over to him by the clerk of the House for safe-keeping.

Premier Rutherford was then called. "In your capacity of Provincial Treasurer certain transactions in connection with the A. & G. W. Railway have passed through your office?"

"Have you brought with you any documents relating to those transactions?"

"Yes." "They were all laid on the table of the House."

"I suppose you saw the files that were brought down?"

"I did not examine them closely. Mr. McLeod took them down."

"Has there ever been any communication between you and the A. & G. W. or any person for it other than is contained on this file?"

"None at all."

"You have received during the past month three or four letters relating to the signing of the bonds?" asked Mr. Nolan. Mr. Rutherford's counsel.

"Are they available at once?" continued Mr. Nolan.

"Oh, yes," replied the Premier.

"Why did you not bring them down?" asked Mr. Walsh.

"I took it they did not pertain to this investigation. The bonds have not been signed and these letters referred to the signing of the bonds."

Mr. Bennett arose to cross-examine the Premier.

Mr. Nolan objected.

"I would ask for a ruling of the Commission," said Mr. Nolan, "as to whether Mr. Bennett is entitled to cross-examine this witness. So far no person has been attacked."

"Some latitude must be allowed," said the chairman.

"What is in this file," said Mr. Bennett, "that purports to be a copy of letter of Mr. W. H. Cushing. The original is not there."

"I just now recollect that letter. It was written on October 7th. I used it in my address and it was not laid on the table of the House. I shall produce it."

"Your oath," continued Mr. Bennett, "is that these files contain all documents and papers of any kind relating to these transactions which are in your possession or ever have been in your possession?"

"Yes."

"Do I understand you to say that personally you made no examination

TUESDAY, MARCH 29, 1910.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, the man who has represented Canada in the tariff negotiations with the United States, is a worthy representative of this country. Mr. Fielding is not only a brilliant orator as he is a clear thinker and hard worker and Canada's interests are well placed in his hands. The report of tariff arrangements on the lines of a partial reciprocity between Canada and the United States will no doubt cause a big howl from some eastern manufacturers whose idea of this country is that it should be fenced off just for their special benefits. The west, however, has a different point of view, and will regard with favor any settlement that is to improve the trade relations with the neighboring republic, provided, as we have every reason to believe it will be provided, that no established industry will be subjected to too great hardship. Trusts and combines are becoming almost as common in Canada as they are in the United States, and the present is the time for us to see that these combines do not get what they consider a vested interest in a high tariff such as the manufacturing interests in the United States seem to believe.

Speaking of a settlers' excursion which left Ontario last week for the west, the Globe says: "The passengers were most of them young men and women in the prime of life. There were a number of children too. All were of these prospective settlers, were drawn from Ontario points, east as far as Smith's Falls and west to Windsor. In most cases they were from the farms, though there were also a good proportion of young men who had been engaged in commercial pursuits going west in search of wider fields."

Canada has no more thankless position to offer any man than that of leader of the opposition. Whether it be in the Dominion parliament or in the Provincial legislatures the opposition always seems more or less in the nature of a forlorn hope. Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative party, has been no exception to this rule and there now comes from Quebec stories of a movement to depose him from the leadership. Mr. Borden is personally a most estimable man and capable of inspiring great affection in those close to him, but lacking the personal magnetism which would enable him to appeal to the larger circle. He has also lacked initiative and decisiveness of action which are calculated to inspire confidence in his followers. That this movement is taken seriously is shown by the fact that the News, which is now one of the Conservative organs in Toronto, comes to Mr. Borden's defence. It says: "Who is there in the party better fitted for leadership than Mr. Borden? Who in the House of Commons, except, perhaps, the Prime Minister? Moreover, a leader grows slowly in the confidence of a country like this, and Mr. Borden's successor would require to serve a long apprenticeship before he could know the country as well as Mr. Borden knows it, and be known by the country as well as Mr. Borden now is."

"There are only a few Sir John Macdonalds. Certainly not one is in sight at the moment. Under the leadership of any such successor to Mr. Borden as seems available the party probably would soon be left to fight or ten years more of opposition. Besides, it is not conceivable that a few men in any one province can dictate the policy of a national party. If once the notion should sink into the public mind that the party which harbored the 'nest of traitors,' however unjust may be the significance which attaches to that term, had also tolerated an intrigue to depose another leader, the results could hardly fail to be very serious."

"All opposition leaders must expect to undergo criticism. In this country we attach so much importance to office-holding that an opposition is apt to be querulous and bad-tempered. The Liberal party passed through many such periods of depression between 1878 and 1896. During the last fourteen years the Conservative party has had similar experiences. There was a time when the whole managing element of the Liberal party declared that success was impossible under Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Sir James Whitney was denounced within his own party as feeble and incompetent down to the very day he took office. Mr. Borden, too, must expect to meet criticism from many persons who will acclaim him as a prince of statesmen when he becomes Prime Minister. In this country we dearly love success and office, and we have very little regard for the man who fail, however splendid the battle they fight or however noble the work they do."

THE RESULT OF THE CONTEST

While the Capital congratulates the winners in the voting contest, it feels that it must not overlook its own share of success. It has upon its books many hundreds of subscribers secured through the efforts of the candidates, and has reason to feel proud of its subscription list. When the contest was announced the city of Edmonton had been previously canvassed and the number of copies of the Capital printed daily list is greatly increased. The advertising value of the Capital has been substantially enhanced, and its field of responsibility and usefulness in the city and vicinity largely extended. The business men and advertisers of the city and country—as well as advertisers from a distance—who wish their announcements and messages to reach the eyes of the buyers will find the Capital has opened up for them a wider field of publicity. The canvass has placed the paper in homes where it will be read closely for its full, fair and accurate reports and chronicles of local and foreign happenings.

What Others Say

ORDERS FROM THE RULERS

(Montreal Herald)
The election of Eugene A. Foss, Democrat, ex-Republican, Canadian reciprocity advocate, and low tariff man, in a Massachusetts constituency which has been a protectionist stronghold ever since tariff protection became an issue in American politics, is an event of much more than ordinary moment. No doubt personal differences between rival Republican aspirants had something to do with the result, but turning an adverse majority of over fourteen thousand into a favorable majority of over five thousand, with a total vote of only twenty-four thousand, can only be held to mean that most of the people who did the voting are angry about something. That this particular man should be chosen as the instrument of vengeance helps us to decide what it is the people are angry about. He himself believes that they are angry about his high cost of living, and that they blame the high tariff for it.

Moreover, his victory may fairly be taken by President Taft as justifying his struggle to get away from the necessity of imposing the maximum tariff upon Canadian trade. Mr. Foss says the election is a condemnation of the principle of retaliation which in the new tariff has been substituted for reciprocity. Whether or no, the tariff matter can hardly fail to see in it a danger signal, where there are a good many others lying. In Michigan they are protesting against the idea of putting an end to a lucrative Canadian business for nothing, and in Cleveland they are wondering whether the best of their shipping business is to be lost. The chances are that good sense will reign, now the people of Massachusetts have shown they want it to.

DECORATION DAY.

(Ottawa Journal)
A Canadian decoration day commemorative not only of those heroes who have died in recent years and whose resting places are known, but in a general way, of all those who since the early days have died for their country's sake, would have an excellent effect, not only in training the rising generation to honor the gallant deeds of Canadians of the past, but in inculcating patriotism. Decoration day ceremonies could profitably and appropriately be combined with either Empire Day or Arbor Day—combined with Arbor Day it would perhaps appeal more strongly to the children. But in any event the suggestion seems worth thinking about.

CAN USE THE SQUEAL NOW

(Manitoba Free Press)

It has long been a saying that so come the times when the most packing concerns in the United States for the utilization of all the by-products that everything is turned to account except the squeal. The vigorous manner in which the Washington government is pressing its prosecutions against the meat trust moves the Los Angeles Express to remark that "the packers have finally begun to put up the squeal."

QUEBEC AND THE NAVY

(La Presse, Montreal)

Is it not evident that the security of our institutions rests on the naval force of the British Empire? If the British fleet disappeared from the seas, of all the Provinces of Canada, the Province of Quebec would lose the most because the other provinces could pass over to the United States without change of language, laws or religion, while the privileges of our faith, our tongue, and our laws would disappear in the abyss. The province of Quebec, and we French-Canadians, we Catholics, have the first interest in the power and preservation of the navy of the British Empire. We are the most interested to fly to her succor in danger, and in the name of heaven, in the name of common sense, what would we do without a fleet, that is to say a Canadian fleet that could harmoniously become part of the imperial fleet in the hour of danger?

UNITED STATES TARIFF

(Toronto Globe)

The United States itself is at this moment an illustration of the incoherence of the law that a nation cannot have regard only for itself. The ominous discontent among the people, their bondage to the tariff-protected trusts, the alarming increase in the cost of their living, are all the direct result of its tariff legislation which was meant to help only its own people and to hurt the people of other countries. The United States tariffs against foodstuffs from Canada did indeed injure Canadian agriculture, but the full price is now being paid by the millions of people in the American cities. Let Canada learn the lesson that trade is a stick with two ends, that exchange of commodities must benefit both parties if it is to bring enduring prosperity to either, and that what is best for Canada cannot be worst for the United States.

CALESSO COMMENTS

We see that Medical Health Officer Dr. Whitelaw has been summoned to the police court on a charge of speeding his auto. His excuse no doubt is that the machine was a new one and he was just testing it to see if it could keep pace with the growth of the city.

The report of Mr. Walter J. Francis, electrical expert, on the public works of Edmonton, is expected along soon. It is to be hoped that the report will not meet the same fate as those of most experts, and be relegated to the files for ever and ever.

In Brantford, the other day, the city council disapproved of the purchase of a police patrol wagon on the novel grounds that it was too metropolitan. It can hardly be a similar reason that prevents the acquisition of one in Edmonton.

Good work this: "The fire engine were pulled out on Friday morning when fire was reported to be in Mr. Fritz's house, adjoining the rink. Fortunately however, when the engine had been drawn with the assistance of a drag team, as far as J. H. Elliott's corner, word was received that the flames had been quenched. Nearly the full brigade was on hand, and good work would no doubt have been accomplished, had occasion demanded it."—Canadiff (Sask), Gazette.

Billionaire Special.

Pasadena, Cal., March 29.—Santa Fe passengers are planning to send a train east from Pasadena on Friday to be called the "Billionaire Special." It is to be a through train to New York, with a stop at the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

Six private cars will be occupied by the Andrew Carnegie party, Mrs. Russell Sage and Major and Mrs. Slocom, Edwin Gould and family, W. Seward Webb and other and other New York people who have been passing part of the winter in California.

In addition to the private cars there will be a sleeper for maids, and auxiliary refrigerating car and cars for automobiles.

UNITED STATES IS SITTING UP

New York Sun Declares in Favor of Trade Treaty With Canada.

TEN YEARS BEHIND TIME

In an interesting article it traces the history of Trade Relations Between the Two Countries.

The New York Sun says: The Boston Advertiser suggests that in Canada's case the maximum tariff rule of the Payne bill will be suspended and a new trade treaty with our neighbor be adopted by authority of Congress. Such a treaty should have been made ten years ago and such a treaty should be made now. Moreover, it would be impossible to make the terms of such a convention too liberal. A reciprocal arrangement with Canada has been the desire and the effort of many statesmen, American and Canadian, since the year 1866.

A reciprocity treaty with Canada, signed June 5, 1854, went into effect on March 16, 1855. It provided that: "The articles enumerated in an annexed schedule hereto annexed, being the growth and produce of the aforesaid British colonies or of the United States, shall be admitted into each country respectively free of duty."

The schedule included the products of the field, the farm and the forest, mine products and the products of the sea, but no manufactured goods. In 1854 the United States sold to Canada merchandise valued at $24,157,612, and bought from Canada merchandise valued at $8,841,212. In operation the treaty proved to be more advantageous to Canada than to the United States. In 1861 the inward and outward accounts were equalized, each standing at about $23,000,000. In 1866 when the treaty expired by reason of denunciation by the United States, imports from Canada exceeded $8,000,000, while exports to Canada were only $23,500,000.

The reasons for the denunciation were somewhat complex. It was held that commercially the arrangement was altogether too one-sided. The "everlasting fisheries question" was tangled up in it, and by it, but the real cause of its repeal," says the Canadian historian Sir John Bourinot, "was the prejudice of the northern States against Canada on account of its supposed sympathy for the Confederate States during the recent war. A large body of men in the north believed that the repeal of the treaty would sooner or later force Canada to join the Republic, and a bill was actually introduced in the House of Representatives providing for its admission." While this was doubtless a factor in the American attitude, it is probable that the fisheries issue and the obvious one-sidedness of the trade advantages carried greater weight in the matter. In a year the imports from Canada dropped from $48,000,000 to $2,000,000. Canadian reciprocity, the renewal of the treaty in 1866 were rejected by the Ways and Means Committee with the statement that the United States "no longer desires trade between the two countries to be carried on upon the principle of reciprocity."

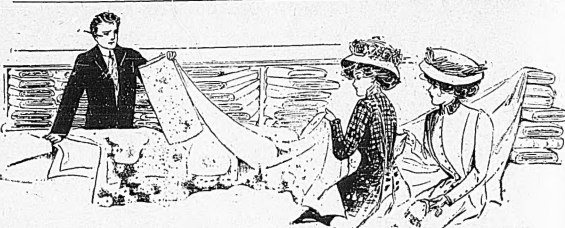

In the next thirty years Canada made a number of efforts to resume reciprocal trade relations, but met with no success and little encouragement. The main difficulty appears to have been Canada's desire to limit the exchange to natural products, an arrangement much to the advantage of Canada and of limited benefit to the United States. In 1892 Mr. Blaine told a special commission from Canada that the government of the United States is not prepared to renew the treaty of 1854 nor to agree upon any commercial reciprocity confined to natural products alone. He stated that "in view of the great development of industrial interests of the United States and of changed conditions of the commercial relations of the two countries since the treaty of 1854 was negotiated, it is regarded of essential importance that a list of manufactured goods be included in the schedule of articles for exchange or favored exchange." The commission declared themselves unable for various reasons to treat on such a basis. Their decision was defensible from a Canadian point of view, but unfortunate for both countries.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier became Premier in 1896. He has been twenty desirous of reciprocal trade relations between Canada and the United States, but his ardor was effectively cooled by his experience as a member of the Joint High Commission which met in Que-

Descendant of Confucius

London, March 29.—The only living lineal descendant of Confucius is expected to attend this year's centennial celebration of the University of Berlin.

Gen. Yin-Chang, the Chinese minister to Berlin, has suggested to his government that China, as the land of the oldest culture and literature, should be worthily represented among the intellectual galaxy which the Berlin jubilee will bring together from all parts of the world.

The present representative of the Confucius family holds, like his predecessors, the rank of a royal duke.

MONTREAL FOR MINTO CUP

The M.A.A.A. Had Their First Practice Last Week—All the Old Favorites Were Out.

Montreal, March 28.—Players of the Montreal Lacrosse Club were brought together at the gym last night for the first time since the close of the 1909 season. Among those who responded were Roddy Finlayson, Jack O'Kane, All, Kane, Jimmy McKenna, Andy Hamilton, Taylor, and Millroy, while Eric Hamilton, who is on the executive, was also present.

It was decided to start training with gym work on Monday, April 4th. Some of them are in pretty good shape as the result of exercise in the winter months. The work in the gym will make the squad ready to jump into the game as soon as the grounds in Westmount are ready.

Chaucer Elliott, who has been busy this week looking up the men, stated that he had seen them all and that all were looking forward to the trip to the coast and anxious to get down to work as soon as possible. The Scotts and Roberts, who were missing, were both working and unable to get away. There is no case of "hail out" among the players, it is stated.

The team will leave for the coast on June 5. It is expected that the club will be scheduled for June 4th, the first Saturday in June. Immediately after the match the team will leave. There will be little enough time to make the trip and get a few days' rest before the first Minto Cup match on June 18.

IT DOES NOT SOUND GOOD

The Winnipeg Correspondent of Sporting News Has a Dream—How Long Would His League Last

Winnipeg, March 27.—How would a six-city circuit appear, composed of Winnipeg, Brandon, Portage in Prairie, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw and Regina? If those cities could be induced to go in together, forming a compact circuit, with a well-arranged schedule, I believe the Western Canada League would be a paying proposition.

A look full of useless but expensive travelling would be cut out of the schedule, that makes bigger holes in the receipts of a ball club than anything else. As matters stand now, Brandon seems to be the only town that does not favor the idea. Saskatoon is only waiting an opportunity to get into the league and the other cities, with possibly Portage the only doubtful one, are eager.

KLING IS VERY BAD

The National Commission is Considering the Star Catcher's Case and May Fine Him $5,000

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 28.—At 6 o'clock this afternoon the National Commission having had the case of Catcher Johnny Kling under consideration to the exclusion of all other business since 11 o'clock adjourned and President Herrman announced that no decision had been reached. It can be said on good authority that Kling will not be reinstated right off the bat without the payment of a stiff penalty, in fact, a man close to the throne said tonight Kling would be fined $5,000 and re-instated immediately, or he will be held off until July or August, when he will be reinstated with the payment of a nominal cash assessment.

WILL WAIT FOR A YEAR

Saskatoon Still Cherishes Professional Baseball Ambitions and is Determined to Get Into Western Canada League

The Saskatoon Press says: "The 'no vacancy' answer given Saskatoon by the Western Canada ball league to the application made for a space in the circuit apparently settles the point for this long for the time being. But the time will come when Saskatoon will be on the prairie league schedule. The eight clubs now in have, of course, the prior right, but this place is slaming forward at such a pace that it will be too good a proposition to be left out. Saskatoonians don't want to stay out of ball this season, and it is not likely that they will be all the way out, for there are enough young sporting towns in the neighborhood to make all the talent we have step fast, if a series can be arranged. A year's wait, if necessary, Saskatoon can stand, although the delay has had a somewhat cooling effect on the ardor of the fans. A meeting is proposed shortly to look over a suggestion to form a northern Saskatchewan league. It was also undertaken last year, but failed through languor on the part of some of our neighbors. The idea should work out alright."

And They Both Ducked.

Jack Haskell, the Western League's chief umpire, had an amusing experience while working behind a young southpaw in Cleveland, Ohio, a few years ago. The southpaw was pitching his first game against the Naps, and he was nervous. He walked the first man. His stage fright increased. He hit the next one, and passed the third, filling the bases. He was in a panic as he saw Lajoie calmly pick out his favorite bat and advance to the plate. "55, Mr. Haskell, if you would mind helping a youngster, tell me what to throw this fellow," the kid said, with trembling lips. Haskell looked mighty solemn. "For the love of heaven don't tip it off to Dan Johnson that I told you, but you pitch Lajoie a straight fast one waist high and right over the heart of the plate, and then we'll both duck," said Jack.

EDMONTON BASEBALL PROSPECTS GROW BRIGHTER DAILY

Farrell's Official Bulletin Announces that Moose, Baxter and Pete Morse Have Accepted Terms With Edmonton

NEW UNIFORMS ARE ON THE WAY

Kid McClair Writes From Seattle that he is in Good Shape and Recommends Bud Whaling and Graff Very Strongly—Anderson, a Pitcher From North Dakota Wants a Trial—Carney Wanted Pete Morse Very Badly—A Short-stop From Dakota is in City.

It looks as if the Western Canada championship battle will be fought out between Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge. Medicine Hat and Winnipeg are practically standing pat and their last year's teams will not land them one-two this season. Brandon, Regina and Moose Jaw are unknown quantities and seen ticketed for the second division. Managers Carney and White of Calgary and Edmonton have spent much time and money in strengthening their teams and if the new men perform up to their previous records, they should be sensations in the Western Canada circuit.

Spring Training.

On April 15th, the advance guard of the Edmonton team will arrive in the city, and with a reasonable amount of good weather, two hard weeks of practice will be indulged in at Diamond Park. The directors are considering the matter of shower baths, and would be a great convenience to the players to be able to peel off their wet suits and step under a hot shower. The trip from the grounds to the hotel in wet clothes has always been conducive to stiffness. Hot baths at the grounds will do away with a lot of "charley horse."

Have Accepted Terms.

J. H. Farrell's last official bulletin, as published in Sporting News, has the following announcement of vital interest to Edmonton fans. Under the heading "Terms Accepted" it says: "With Edmonton—J. M. Baxter, P. R. Morse." So the official seal is put on the two deals and Deacon can now sleep at night. Pete Morse's photograph and record were published in The Capital and a few words about the famous Morse would not be amiss. Last year Baxter played with Butte in the Intercontinental League. He was drafted by St. Louis, and let out to Montgomery of the Southern League, a club with which he played two seasons. Moose stands 6 feet 2 in his stocking feet and weighs 200 lbs. He plays first base and is a past grand.

Eldred McClair Writes.

A letter was received from McClair, who is wintering in Seattle. He says: "You asked about Bud Whaling as a catcher. Well, he looks better to me than Kid Ford ever did, and that is saying a lot. He is surely a good one. Have you got Morse signed yet? Bill Carney of Calgary told me that he had him. Where are the Edmonton players going to train? If at home, I will stay here until about a week before the season opens, as I am afraid of he cold affecting my arm. Have been out getting batting practice and

PRES. ECKSTROM APPOINTSUMPIRES

His Selections are Voss, [Shuster and Morrison While Smith Will Probably Get Other Vacancy.

The other day the Winnipeg Tribune published a story about President Eckstrom having appointed a new umpire named Smith. This was extensively published by the different papers around the circuit, and the series seemed pleased with the selection. But now the Lethbridge Herald, cruel, as usual, desires to know how anything emanating from Winnipeg in the way of baseball dope can be authentic?

Is not Lethbridge the home of President Eckstrom? Is not the Herald his official mouthpiece? The Herald was not the first to print the story, so it cannot be authentic. If the other papers were to trust in the Lethbridge press for their baseball dope, their sporting pages would have a "starvation" diet for 219. Last year with Butte he hit over 300. Bats left handed and is a shifty man on his feet.

Uniforms on the Way.

Deacon White received a letter from Chicago saying that the ball players' nobby summer suits are almost completed, and they will be shipped immediately. When the players get on their suits and Vic and his hand on their Rooters' badges, grey will be the favorite color in Edmonton. The green suits have been sent to the Irish Canadian baseball team.

Players Want Trials.

Kid Williams, last year with Medicine Hat, has written to Deacon asking if there are any vacancies on the local team. In a pinch, there may be a vacancy for a star man, but not for a player of Kid's caliber. His offer is refused, with thanks.

A stocky looking ball player from North Dakota paid a visit to headquarters this morning and may get a trial. He is a shortstop, and while he has little chance of displacing Pete Morse, if he shows anything Deak may place him somewhere, with the idea of using him at some future time.

A letter was received from McClair, who is wintering in Seattle. He says: "You asked about Bud Whaling as a catcher. Well, he looks better to me than Kid Ford ever did, and that is saying a lot. He is surely a good one. Have you got Morse signed yet? Bill Carney of Calgary told me that he had him. Where are the Edmonton players going to train? If at home, I will stay here until about a week before the season opens, as I am afraid of he cold affecting my arm. Have been out getting batting practice and

WILL TRY FOR THE DIAMONDS

Lou Scholes and Jimmy Cosgrave, of Toronto, Will go After the Blue Ribbon of the Rowing World

Toronto, March 28.—Lou Scholes, winner of the Diamond Sculls at Henley in 1904, unsuccessful in his second attempt, in 1908, will go after the big amateur sculling event again this summer. Lou has been training since the first of the year at Varsity and in long walks over the hills.

When he started training, he weighed 198 pounds, and has reduced to 187, and expects to row at 175. On his first trip to the Thames Lou weighed 152. Lou's new boat, by George Sims & Company, of Putney, England, will be shipped on April 1st. Lou also ordered a double-shell.

Jimmy Cosgrave will also try for the Diamonds.

Graff is hitting like a fiend. I think he is a good one."

Deak will tell Kid to come along on April 15th, as the balmy weather in Edmonton will not hurt anybody's arm. And the next day it snowed. There is a probability that Graff and Whaling, mentioned by McClair, will be seen in Edmonton suits. The latter is the catcher who did so well against Comiskey's White Sox. As Pete Morse's contract is already signed and in Manager White's strong box, the latter has another guess.

Will Try Anderson.

J. M. McCutcheon of Calvin, N. D., who is due for a try-out with the locals, has written recommending David Anderson, a pitcher, for a trial. He is twenty-seven years old, 6 feet 1 1/2 inches tall and weighs 185 pounds. Has played with a number of fast independent teams. Last year he pitched twenty games and in the face of poor support won fourteen. This is a mighty fine average. All were against professional teams. He had three shut-outs to his credit and at Langdon, during a tournament, he participated in an 18-innings game. He held his opponents down to two runs and five hits. Anderson feels confident he can make good in the Western Canada League and probably Deacon will give him a trial.

Jack Graney says that before the Cleveland players get back home they will have walked 150 miles to the ball grounds and back in Alexandria, La., where the team is training. The men make the round trip twice a day and Graney says, barring time lost by rain, they will not miss before the hike back home is begun.

PLANS PREPARED FOR THE ARENA

Rickard and Gleason Have Received the Specifications—Will be 162 Press Seats—Who Wants Ours?

San Francisco, March 28.—Rickard and Gleason today received from the architect the completed plans for the big fight arena in which the Jeffries-Johnson fight will be held.

The arena will be octagon-shaped, 320 feet across and 40 feet high in the rear. Immediately around the ring there will be 162 press seats. Then come the high-prices seats, plush-covered, ranging from $50 to $30. This space will be within thirty feet of the ring.

The other ranging from $3 to $25, will then be in successive tiers. It has not been decided as yet at what distance from the ring the prices will change. The ring will be easily seen from the back row of seats.

Rickard claims the arena will seat 30,000 and if filled to capacity will represent a profit of $30,000 to the promoters.

Jeffries returned to Los Angeles yesterday from his bear hunt without any bears. He said that he had taken off two pounds a day. He will rest a few days at his ranch, and will go to his permanent training camp near Santa Cruz April 1.

Jack Johnson in Politics

Chicago, March 29.—Jack Johnson jumped into local politics last night and made a political speech. Surrounded by a crowd of colored people, he exhorted his hearers to vote for Edwin H. Wright, a colored independent candidate for alderman in the second ward.

Fight for Championship of Mexico. Mexico City, March 28.—Jack Connell, of Canada, former sparring partner of Stanley Ketchell, will fight a second round battle with Sailor Williams of England, at Salina Cruz, during the first week in April for the championship of Mexico.

CALGARY Y.M.C.A. POOR SPORTS

Try to Blame Their Defeat in the Good Friday Basketball Game on the Referee

Calgary athletes are a sore bunch of losers, no matter in what line of sport they are engaged. This is how the Calgary Herald explains the defeat of their basketball team:

"If all reports, the basketball game on Good Friday between Edmonton and Calgary was no pink tea affair. To start with, the referee, Jackson, was absolutely useless as an official, and although he has been connected with Y.M.C.A. work the greater part of his career, he does not seem to know the game, nor the true definition of a foul. True enough, he called a few, but they were so punk that even the Edmonton bunch gave him the ha, ha.

"The Calgary team need not feel disgraced for the showing they made, for they could not have won the game with a dozen men so long as Jackson handled the whistle.

Regarding the game, Calgary had all the best of the combination work, but as soon as Calgary's forwards got the ball, they were either floored or tackled in rugby-like manner, and they had no possible chance to score. The Calgary defence could have done the same to the Edmonton forwards if they had whistled, because Jackson did not give a whop, what happened. That the Calgary team were there to play basketball and they did so, and gave the game to Edmonton."

REGINA HAS SOME PHENOMS

Manager Roxy Walters Has Signed a Bunch of Players that are a Strange to Western Canada.

Roxy Walters, the Regina baseball manager, is one of the busiest men in the south country. Johnny Hooker's contract has been received and also that of an infielder named Dick Brookings from St. Louis, who is touted as a find. Charles Ebery, who is some first baseman, and a real hitter, late of the Southern league, will in all probability take care of the initial sack. Paul Grimes, from Michigan, is supposed to be one of the finest pitchers in captivity, likewise Catchers Frank Markkne and Lucky Stewart, are wonders.

Al Watts, who pitched for Brandon last year will be given a try-out at LaCrosse, and if he makes good, will wear a Regina uniform. The sports writer of the Saturday Spectator adds that the fans need not worry about the speed of their team. He winds up by remarking naively that all that is needed is money.

THE BEST RACE OF THEM ALL

The Foremost Long Distance Men in the World Will Race at the Polo Grounds, New York on April 2nd

New York, March 28.—The next big professional foot race will be the $20,000 Marathon Derby at the New York Polo grounds on April 2nd. All the men who appeared in the recent Garden races—Ljungstrom, Johansson, Crowley, Clarke, Meadows, Aloose, Schell, Holmer and others—will be contenders, as well as Henri St. Yves and Dorando Pietri. Doubtful starters are Tom Longboth and Johnny Hayes.

The race is likely to throw the experts off. The men who have been cutting up high jinks indoors are likely to go to the head on the heavy turf track at the Polo grounds. If Ljungstrom can run on the turf in the form he showed over the boards, he will be a sure winner. There's where the rub comes, however. The track is likely to upset all calculations, especially if it should be muddy.

From all indications the coming Derby will produce the greatest Marathon in the annals of sport. Never has such a field faced the barrier. It will be a grueling battle from flag-stall to finish and the man who wins will be a wonder.

A year or so ago a 1.51 performance for twenty miles would have been scoffed at. Ljungstrom, when he turned his twenty miles in 1:50:38.3 the other night, could have kept on at the same gait for another five miles. When he trotted over to pose for the photographers immediately after the race, the only thing that denoted his exertions was his breathing. Ten minutes after the race one never would have known that Ljungstrom had run the fastest twenty miles in the annals of sport.

THEY WILL HAVE TWO REFEREES

Are Afraid the First Man May Get in the Way of a Stray Wallop—Will Have Substitute

San Francisco, Cal., March 28.—Tex Rickard tonight announced he would demand two referees at the ringside for the Jeff-Johnson fight. He read in dispatches recently about referees being accidentally knocked out.

"We are not going to take any chances," he said, "Both Jeffries and Johnson are big men and fast in action. It might easily happen that the referee would be disabled by getting in the way of a wallop not intended for him. To avoid that I will insist upon two substitutes. One will simply be a referee. He will have a ringside seat, and be ready to take the centre of the ring if anything happens to the other."

"That should be agreeable to both fighters and I am going to take it up with them."

RESULTS $1,750 CONTEST

conclusions as to the great increase in circulation, which means an added value to their advertisement. This comes only as a natural result, since the greater the number of readers the greater the value of the Capital as an advertising medium.

The successful candidates are named today as the result of the official count of the prominent and disinterested gentlemen who acted as judges, and who had no concern in the contest other than to accept the invitation of the management to make a complete and thorough canvass of the vote. The mere mention of the names of these gentlemen is assurance of their integrity.

Of course there were some disappointments. There were possibly some of the contestants who underestimated the strength of their opponents; but this feature of a contest cannot be overcome, as much as it is distasteful to the Capital and the contestants. Often—but what's the use of philosophizing? A good loser—one hears a lot of complimentary things about the great Canadian quality of being able to stand a defeat without going off into the woods and sulking forever and a day.

THE CANDIDATES.

Miss C. A. Batell—The winner of the first grand prize, the $500 Nordheimer piano, had a vote of 710,087, which represents an immense volume of business. This young lady entered the contest among the first and never allowed an hour to elapse unaccounted for. Her reward was accordingly very great.

Miss Gladys G. Hetherington—The winner of the $250 Nordheimer piano, the second grand prize, made a campaign which she should always be proud of. She found time during her leisure hours to make hustle "high and low" for votes, and make a finish that was indeed spectacular.

Mr. Roy Stenberg, the young man from Viking, with 662,512 votes, had them all guessing from the very start of the contest. If his native town people do not feel proud of the showing he made, then they are not awake to the fact that they have not a number a young man who will make his mark in life. He won first prize in his district.

Miss Bessie Gourlay—This lively contestant was the latest starter of all, "getting busy" when the contest had less than four weeks to go. The sparkling diamond ring, first district prize, will never be a reminder from her many loyal friends.

Miss Marie Murdoch—The winner of a diamond ring in District No. 2 had nearly a half million votes. To secure "blues" representing so many subscriptions, is no small task—and it was done "between hours," too.

Miss May Somers—Who had the high vote in Strathcona, entitling her to first choice of the district prizes, had a very pleasing vote, stated last night after the count that she would waive the diamond ring and choose the business course. It is not often that a young lady fails to take the opportunity of getting the gem of all precious stones.

Miss Hazel Raymond—As the winner of a business course, Miss Raymond will now have the opportunity of gratifying one of her ambitions—that is, to be an expert typewriter.

Miss Florence Anderson—With a vote of 309,774, carried off the second prize in her district. This is the greatest number of votes recorded for any candidate finishing second in a district.

Miss Winnifred Chamberlin—From the fact that Miss Somers may select the business course, Miss Chamberlin will have the privilege of wearing the diamond ring. This must have been the candidate the contest man dreamed of on a diamond ring.

Miss Eva E. Thompson—A business course goes to the young lady to the east of Edmonton. And from a conversation had with the contest manager, this was the prize desired. Congratulations.

Miss Hilda Sennner—Here is another instance of a candidate getting the prize of her choice, if the conversations had at the contest department are correctly remembered.

Miss Edith Miller—As the winner of the Morris Chair Miss Miller will have the opportunity to practically demonstrate the comforts stored in these most satisfying "resters," and remember the encouraging words, "Never stop until the finish, and you will get something."

David Nelson—The third prize in the district goes to the Fort Saskatchewan contestant.

Miss Hilda Heathcote—By virtue of two grand prizes being won in District No. 1, Miss Heathcote comes in for the writing desk. All of which demonstrates that it pays to stay in the contest, even if one can not devote much time to it.

Miss Flossie Adair—The very first candidate to turn in a subscription after the contest was announced, and about the last to leave the contest department before the count. She had a nice vote, all gathered out of school hours.

Mrs. S. D. McGray—The winner of the gold watch in the Strathcona District. The Capital feels proud of the contestants in District No. 2, for it was through their untiring energy that about 2,000 readers were secured across the river.

HOW THE VOTE WAS COUNTED.

Had the many millions of votes been counted the old way, "by hand," the results of the contest would not have appeared in The Capital until Wednesday or Thursday. The Burroughs adding machine, the mechanism with almost human brains, allowed the judges to give the totals of all the candidates in less than two hours. And the beauty of the whole affair is that the count is absolutely correct. This machine never gets brain fatigue. The Capital wishes to thank Mr. J. Carnet Pearson, of the United Typewriter Co., who so kindly loaned a new machine for the purposes of the count.

SHOT AT POLICEMAN

Sixteen Year Old Boy Held a Crowd at Bay With His Revolver.

Chicago, March 29.—Three boys from Cleveland, Ohio, bound for the West to become "broncho busters" shot at a policeman and created a riot in the neighborhood of Seventy-fifth street and Dolphin avenue yesterday. The boys were waiting on the Pennsylvania railroad right of way, and were accosted by Policeman Moriarity. He found revolvers stuck in their boots, and they were well equipped with dime novels and smoking tobacco. While he was searching the clothing of one of the boys the latter cried out: "Here, out that, out, I'll take a shot at you."

The boy, who later gave his name as Louis Magy, 16 years old, of Cleveland, jerked away from the policeman and ran down an embankment. Moriarity gave chase, and the boy turned and fired four shots at his pursuer. Moriarity shot at the boy six times. The shots aroused the neighborhood, and within a few minutes a dozen men had entered the chase. Magy finally gained cover in a barn where he kept his pursuers at bay for some time.

Finally the boy made a dash for liberty and was caught by a policeman. His companions were not arrested.

Montreal Church Burned.

Montreal, Que., March 29.—Tar candles caused an $80,000 blaze at St. Agnes B. C. Church. The fire started about noon and was discovered by a penitent going to his Easter duties. While the blaze was soon extinguished, the main altar sacristy and organ were badly damaged, and the church will be closed several weeks for repairs.

Stratford will Take Power

Stratford, March 29.—On April 14 ratepayers will vote on the bylaw to provide $85,000 for a distribution plant for Niagara power.

At the Empire.

Conspicuous in the upper left balcony of the Empire last night sat two men who became so interested in the work of the various artists that they took to making very audible comments.

"Say, you had better come down and do this," was the remark of Madge Maitland, the singing comedienne, amid the deafening applause of the crowded house.

Later the announcement was made that the first five hundred ladies attending the Wednesday matinee would receive a photograph of the drummer and his eleven kids and of "it" in the balcony without his wig.

The show this week is good. By the way, the performance last evening had a feature which has probably not been seen in the Empire. The crowd went mad in its persistent applause of the work of Diamond and Beatrice, high-class instrumentalists. For some time the whole performance was delayed by the demands of the crowd for an encore.

In the opinion of many Madge Maitland heads the bill. Her comic performances coupled with a musical voice and full possession of her wits when confronted by interruptions showed that she is unmistakably clever.

Diamond and Beatrice are good in their handling of musical instruments. "Beatrice" seemed to be making the hit, as she is a very attractive personage. Some very difficult stunts are given by the Kenoshas on bicycles and unicycles. A sensational high dive on a bicycle fully satisfied the audience that Renello is an artist of the real dare-devil type. Gymnastics of the novelty type were skillfully performed by Pateid.

"The Sheriff and the Widow" is a dramatic comedy presented with all the Western coloring. The sheriff, a big burly fellow, relaxes in his duty for the love of a pretty widow and closes the scene by "I'm a hell of a sheriff, I am."

The Empirescope, giving all the latest in animated photography, and Miss Edith Wall's singing of "Shine on, Harvest Moon," were well received. The performance will be repeated this evening.

FATHER FOLLOWED GIRL THREE YEARS

John Capeheart, Charged With Abduction, is Said to be a Former Navy Officer.

Montreal, Que., March 29.—John Capeheart, said to be an ex-lieutenant in the United States navy, has been taken into custody, with 19-year-old Anna Benner, who left Hartford, Conn., with him three years ago. They have been the object of a three-year search on the part of the girl's father, Louis Benner, who wants Capeheart extradited on a charge of abducting a minor.

The Hartford authorities also have a warrant for a forgery against him. The father said tonight that Capeheart had acquired some influence over his 16-year-old daughter three years ago, when the lieutenant had cut a swath in Hartford society. They had not to get married against his will. After three years' search which followed through many American cities, he had finally heard of their location here. Capeheart says he is legally married to the girl.

Capeheart waited extradition and left for Hartford in company with an American detective and a local officer. In Montreal Capeheart lived with the girl under the name of John Shaw.

New Italian Cabinet.

Rome, March 29.—Gomi Lazzati, minister of agriculture in the cabinet which resigned on March 21st, has practically decided on the new ministry, the formation of which was entrusted to him by King Victor Emmanuel.

It will include the Marquis Di San Giuliano, foreign minister, who held this office in 1906; four members of the Giolitti cabinet, three radicals, and Signor Patano, who was minister of agriculture in the first Senate Ministry three years ago.

Capital Want Ads. Bring Results.

Provincial Rights.

Ottawa, March 29.—For the purpose of discussing the important question of the relative jurisdiction of the Dominion and the province in respect to company incorporation and other matters, an important conference was begun in the capital yesterday between representatives of the Dominion and provincial governments.

CALGARY TO HAVE SOME GAMES

Manager Bill Carney Has Arranged
a Nice Little Schedule of Work-outs—Will Play on Coast

Calgary, March 28.—S. S. Savage, president of the Calgary Baseball Club, who has been on a seven weeks' trip to California and Mexico, arrived in Calgary this morning and is feeling much improved in health.

According to Mr. Savage, Carney has dates with Vancouver for three games, commencing on April 10, and on the 16th and 17th with Seattle. He will then travel his team east, playing at Allentown, Yakima, and arriving at Spokane on April 21. Two games will be arranged with the Northwest League teams of Spokane, on April 22 and 23, and after that they will come direct to Calgary.

Schedule in Two Weeks.

A. M. Blackburn of Winnipeg writes that good progress is being made on the draft schedule, and it will likely be ready in two weeks. Several suggestions have been received from various clubs in the league, which will be considered in the drafting.

For the Fair Sex.

Is Calgary going to have a ladies' day during the baseball season? Friday was set apart for the ladies' day at the Moose Jaw meeting on a suggestion by Ralph Manley, of that city, but it was left to the option of the clubs to decide whether there should be such a day.—Herald.

The annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. baseball club will be held in the building on Wednesday, March 30th, at 8:00 p.m. The manager and officers for the coming year will be elected and delegates appointed to attend the league meeting which will be held the following day.

SPARKLETS

Glims From the Sporting Anvil

Says Fred Clarke, (the head buccaner of the champions of the universe: "When the cutting down season comes it will be a fair fight for the jobs, and the best players will be kept." We hazard a prediction that George Gibson, Babe Adams, Jack Miller, Houns Wagner, Tommy Leach, Owen Wilson, Bobby Byrne and Frederick Clarke will be lopped off in the pruning.

It was serious oversight on Ebbe's part not having the schedule extended three months longer so he could get in a game on Christmas day.

Newark, N.J., fans are discussing the probable selection of a captain for the Indians. Everything considered, it is probable that Larry Schaffly, who will hold down the keystone sack, will land the job. Last year Harry Wolverton held the position of manager and captain of the Braves, and following his injury, McGinnity took charge. This season, it is said, McGinnity will give his time to his duties as manager and put some one in the field as captain.

It is now said that Tim Hursi, the far-famed American League umpire, will soon take a flier in vaudeville. Timotheus should not only be a great card for his past reputation, but would make a cracker-jack as a monologist. He is chock full of good Irish stories, as well as narratives from the ball field and ought to be a swell entertainer.

Remarkable Club Swinging.

Sergt. Phillips, gymnastic instructor to the Lads' Club, Burnley, England, one Saturday night recently completed 68 hours of continuously swinging a three pound pair of Indian Clubs. He felt comparatively fresh, and at the finish stated that he could have gone several hours longer had it been necessary, but he did not care to go into Sunday. He was free from stiffness after his remarkable feat of endurance, but lost about a dozen pounds' weight. This is claimed by Phillips to be a world's record.

Our Friend Zwicker.

According to the Seattle papers, Miles Lynch, Seattle's manager, is to give Baron Zwicker, Calgary's last year's first baseman, later of the Hat, a tryout this spring. This will be Zwicker's second trial on the Seattle team, and although he is a little shy on the think tank, he is a good man.

UNITED STATES TO PROTECT LIBERIA

Crisis Birmingham Sent to the Liberian Coast—Will Establish a Coaling Station.

Washington, March 29.—The report of the Liberian commission to the state department just sent to congress explains why the cruiser Birmingham was ordered to the waters of the African republic. Out of the turmoil in Liberia, caused by British and other foreign "bawling" as it is officially called, will come, it is expected, the establishment of a United States coaling station on the Liberian coast. This has been desired by the navy for many years, and it is expected it will be followed when established by the creation of a European naval station. The necessity for the retention of the European naval station, which was maintained by this country, is based on the constant friction between Turkey and its dependencies, Morocco and this government.

The only ship the United States keeps in the Mediterranean is the Scorpion, the dispatch boat for the use of the American ambassador at Constantinople.

The Liberian commission report is an exhaustive document, the purpose of which was to suggest means for the national rehabilitation of Liberia as to its finances, frontier guards and in general to protect the little republic from domination by Great Britain, notably, and by France and other nations, whose colonies press upon the Liberian frontier.

The commission says that the British policy has been a failure. Great Britain made some suggestions for reform, but these were predicated upon a preponderance of control by British officials. Liberia resented the British methods and "bawling," so that the British officials who took charge of reorganizing the military branch of the government had to be dismissed.

There are reports at the state department which show that the pressure on the Liberian frontier is based on the plan of acquiring certain Liberian goldfields for the oppressors of that country.

The fact is that the real motives of the state department have not been given to the public. There is nothing in the report of the Liberian commission as given to the issue which would justify the United States in sending, as she has sent, a war vessel to the assistance of Liberia.

The better opinion here is that the cruiser Birmingham has been sent to serve notice on the nations of which Liberia complains, that the navy of this country, or a large part of it, is available for the protection of its protégé.

The commission which reported today visited Liberia at the suggestion of Mr. Root, when secretary of state.

TOOK FIFTY CENTS

Chicago Policeman Has Been Dismissed
From the Force.

Chicago, Ill., March 29.—Policeman James J. McGuire of the Fiftyeth street station has been dismissed from the force. It was stated that he accepted 50 cents from a man he threatened to arrest.

The trouble started over an owner of a vehicle not having a light lit. McGuire, it was said, stopped the man and threatened to take him "to the station." A friend of the two interceded, and McGuire was credited with having asked what he got out of it.

The owner of the rig, it was said, slipped McGuire a quarter, and after some comment on the part of the latter, supplied him an additional 25 cents. McGuire, it was said, gave one half the money to the boy for holding the man's horse during the dispute.

Chesty Makes Home Run.

Lethbridge, March 28.—"Chesty" Cox, manager of the Lethbridge baseball team, made his first home run of the season on Saturday evening, when he was married to Miss Evelyn Seeley, of this city by Rev. T. P. Perry, pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

NO ACCOUNTING FOR TASTES

TRUE thinks in some men's busy brains
Are hard to understand.
One person to one special cause
Will give his heart and hand,
While others who are just as wise,
With heads about as long,
On schemes exactly opposite
Will bear down just as strong.

It's pretty hard to comprehend
How men who seem to be
About as bright as any one
With some cults can agree,
And yet if you will look to home
Some notions you may find
That will not be accepted by The balance of mankind.

We cannot look at things alike.
Each has his little fast
That seems to him, if understood,
Would make the whole world glad,
But some one else may think as well
Of something that would seem
To you to be a wild and vague
And iridescent dream.

And that is why each little cult
Has once by it its own
And who are looking for a chance
To boost it anywhere.
If we could see things just alike
Perhaps it would be nice,
But, oh, the world would just for that
Be mighty short on spice!

Kind Words Can Never Die.
"Why is a girl a good cook?"
"Generally because she is too homely to be frivolous."

"Right. Why do we so often say 'He is very good to his family?'"
"It is necessary to say some good of him."

"Well?"
"He's apt to be an exposed grafter."

The Difference.

"It is hard."
"What is?"
"To win a rich wife."
"Different with a poor one."
"She is easy to get, eh?"
"Not exactly."
"What then?"
"Hard to lose."

Considerate.

"I hear you have traded doctors."
"Yes."
"What was the matter with the old one?"
"Nothing, but I couldn't pay him just now, and I thought I would divide up my favors."

Double Culture.

"Going to night school?"
"Yes."
"Can you learn as much as at day school?"
"More. I can spell just as well in the dark as in the light."

And Getting Them.

"Why are you waiting?"
"For all things. Why are you working?"
"Me?"
"Yes."
"For some things."

Defined.

"What is a policeman?"
"A policeman?"
"Yes."
"One who isn't out looking for trouble."

Curio.

"He loves truth."
"Does he?"
"Yes, indeed."
"Fond of rarities, I suppose."

And Then Some.

"How much money does it take to marry on?"
"All you can get your hands on."

In Evidence.

In answer to the question old
Where are the snows of yesteryear?
The answer plainly seems to be They're here.

ALDERMEN GET INCREASE

Council of New Westminster Vote Them
salves Higher Salaries.

New Westminster, March 29.—The salaries of the mayor and aldermen of the Royal City have received a substantial increase. Mayor Lee's annual stipend has been increased from $1,000 to $1,500 a year, while all the aldermen with the exception of Ald. Bryson will double their salaries, receiving in future $300 instead of $150 a year. Ald.
Bryson stated that he was not opposed to the granting of increases, but he thought that the matter should have been submitted to the ratepayers for their approval, and as it was not he did not feel inclined to accept the extra money.

Scott Bushman Dead.

Nipigon, March 29.—Archie Campbell, a Scotchman, who drifted into Nipigon after working in the Wash-ash camps, was found dead under neath a heavy draft horse, also dead, in the Revillon Brothers stable on Saturday morning. Campbell had been drinking, and is supposed to have attempted to take the horse out of the barn, when the animal fell on him, he being strangled by the fall and unable to help himself.

MADE NEW STYLE

Got Some Girls to Start it and All the Others Followed Suit.

Washington, March 29.—"Epps" Wilson, principal of the Central High school in this city, has proved to his own satisfaction that the height of feminine ambition is to be "just like other girls."

Wilson thought his girl pupils were wearing too many rags, fads, and fashionable trinkets. He decided to stop it. How? Pass a law? Make the girls do it? Never, said the astute Wilson. "I'll make them want to do it." So he called twenty of the "wisest" maidens in the school to his office and told them very confidentially how they could start a fad.
They were to appear with their hair in a braid just like their grandmothers used to wear when they were girls. And when the twenty floated in next morning with their hair down their backs, all the other girls "fell for it." Now there is only one style of hair dress at that school, and the fad is already spreading to the other High schools. The girls say they changed because it was the latest style, but the boys of the city say it was Wilson who did it.

EGGS FORTY YEARS OLD

Scientists Were Doubtful But Pronounced
the Eggs Very Good.

Dublin, March 29.—Eggs forty years old were on the menu at the weekly breakfast of the Irish Zoological society's council recently. The venerable eggs had been brought from China by Sir Charles Hall, one of the members.
The scientists were agast when informed of the age of the eggs, but a guest who was acquainted with Chinese delicacies recommended them, giving an assurance that they were quite harmless. Finally some were tasted by a courageous zoologist who found them excellent eating. It appears that with age the Chinese egg becomes a sort of jelly with a very delicate flavor.

CAME FROM INDIA
BY A NEW ROUTE

Lieutenant Etherton in an Adventurous Journey Travelled Through Unknown Country.

London, March 29.—An adventurous journey has ended in London with the arrival of Lieutenant J. T. Etherton of the Indian army, who has travelled a route from India never before covered. His route was via Kashmir, Gilgit, Hunza, the Pamirs, thence along part of the little-known Yarkand river, continuing through Chinese Turkestan, Mongolia, the Al-tai mountains, and Siberia, to the Trans-Siberian railway.

The expedition was undertaken by a severe blizzard north of Lake Ulungnor in Mongolia, and both Lieutenant Etherton and his native orderly were severely frost-bitten, but struggling on for twelve days they reached Zaisan,
a small military post on the Russo-Chinese frontier, where they received every care and attention in the Russian military hospital, until able to continue the journey to the Trans-Siberian railway.

During the journey Lieutenant Etherton secured some notable big game trophies, and collected some interesting notes of the larger fauna of Central Asia and Mongolia.

JUDGE DROPPED DEAD

Member of United States Supreme Court Died Very Suddenly.

Washington, D.C., March 29.—David Josiah Brewer, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, dropped dead in the bathroom of his hotel a few minutes after 11 o'clock last night. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause of death. Justice Brewer apparently had been in the best of health. He was 73 years old, and had been a member of the Supreme Court since December, 1889.

It is within the range of possibilities that the death of Justice Brewer will have far-reaching effects on important cases now pending before the Supreme Court. Justice Brewer was a one of the progressive members of the court and inclined to a liberal construction of the laws.

He sat in both the Tobacco and Standard Oil cases, both of which are on the eve of being decided. It has been the general expectation that votes of the court in both the Tobacco and Standard Oil cases would be close.

With Justice Brewer now dead, there is a likely possibility conditions may be reversed one way or the other over the decisions as they would have been rendered had Justice Brewer lived.

Solicitor-General Lloyd Bowers, is generally regarded as the successor to Justice Brewer.

Breweries in Merger.

Sault Ste. Marie, March 29.—A representative of a Toronto syndicate has just closed a deal for the Sault Brewery for $300,000. The Sault Brewery is also reported to have passed under the same control. It is believed to be the beginning of a big merger to control all breweries in Ontario.

York to San Francisco in 100 days last fall, but on the way east has made a schedule which calls for the completion of the journey in 85 days. He will have to cover more than forty miles a day to do it. He will follow the trail of Weston for a greater portion of the journey.
